A very chill and trippy game where you're a planet-sized spaceship cruising the galaxy. You warp from system to system, scanning planets and landing shuttles to resupply, occasionally having to fight off or avoid hostile planets or ships or whatever. There's mini-events as you encounter aliens and whatnot, there's some very limited crafting using elements you pick up from gas clouds or blowing up stuff, and the end goal apparently is to find another planet for humanity, but really the game feels more like an unguided space acid trip.

For me it was a little too unguided, a little too wander-y. I like games that are a more driven, where I can sort of feel myself taking steps towards a goal. So I personally got tired of the game pretty quick, and it's definitely not for everyone. But I do think it is a very good game for anyone who likes slower paced open-ended explorey games that don't pressure you too much, especially if you want to play something super unique and very trippy.. When comes out for Mac?. This is exactly what you want when you go looking for a boss rush game.

The pixel art style is amazing to look at and hardly ever hinders gameplay.

High difficulty, but learning the patterns of bosses really gives you the feeling of progression towards the next boss.

All in all, a fun trip for anyone looking into the boss rush style.. I good RTS game. The mouse controls are alright and I haven't seen all the features. Seems good so far. On a larger scale than some rts games, but not huge (Unlike SupCom or Planetary annihilation) which means you won't have much trouble managing your troops. Good selection of units that aren't boring. The graphics and animations aren't great, but i don't give a crap about that and considering the large amount of content having low graphics barely makes a difference. Worth the $15 and definetly buy it if it's on sale.. Choppy and glitched. Not fun, not playable.. Has a stupid bug in it, but can be fixed very easily. Except that, it's a good game. :). Fun trading game.. Flappy Bird meets pigs in this clicker / spacebar bashing title of minimalistic practices. Collect coins and purchase random pig skins in this point farming procrasinator.

That is literally all that can be said about this game. It holds a couple easter eggs and has steam achievements and trading cards. Besides that it is rather unimaginative and straight forward. A decent get but won't gain any awards for anything innovative anytime.

Great platformer. A little bit too short and easy. Easy achievements and cheap trading cards. 6.5/10. I'd say this game ain't bad given it's price, especially discounted too. Puzzles somewhat coarse but acceptable. Music is dull. Story is quite shallow. And you get cards as well. All in all, why not.... Great game, have played Airline Tycoon, Airline Tycoon Evolution and now Airline Tycoon Deluxe. However, it's impossible to use in a two screen system as it will corrupt the second screen. Also impossible to open in windowed mode, But besides that it's a great game, just don't buy it if you enjoy multi-tasking.

EDIT: Redownloaded to play. But the main hall is extremely laggy, makes for unpleasant playing.. The concept is unique and the game is pretty fun. The problem is the save system. If you lose a level, you have to start from Level 1. If you want to save the pics you've uncensored to the gallery, you have to restart from Level 1.

If lv 3 is the lv I'm having trouble with, I want to play lv 3 without playing lv 1 and 2 to get there.

It turns what is a fun and interesting game, into a complete waste of time.. It's a great little indie game, it's cheap and you really should play it.. This is a very good game, but it can drive you a bit crazy, if you want to max out the stars you gain.
Precision and patience is needed!. i love music
this game visualize my music simple as that ;)
